

Fiat Nuova 500

I visited a Non-subscribing Prestytarian (near enough Unitarian) minister in Newry, and got to know his wife's 500. They had two daughters and could fit everybody in, even if it was easier with the roof open. I wonder if it's because you hear air cooled engine more clearly than water cooled, that this one (two cylinders and 500, later 600cc) seemed so unburstable as it gamely pushes you on, revving every time you change gear in your effort to keep up with the traffic. I know the engine is at the other end, but I wish I knew the Topolino too.

© Roderick Ramage 1.i.2004