

Land Rover 110

After a nasty crash, when a horse trailer took control of my Passat estate (the horses were unhurt), I bought a Land Rover for towing. It was an ex-army model of unknown age with only two doors, one row of seats and a cavernous rear compartment - like having my own private lorry. It took me and my horse to many an event and gave my daughter most of her pre-test driving practice, starting with figures of 8 in reverse in a field. We had a proper winter that year and lots of fun ploughing through the snow in country lanes.

© Roderick Ramage 3.i.2004